

AutoFlush90XL

The AutoFlush90XL is a fully automatic pumping station suitable for pumping grey water with small solids (smaller than 5 mm in diameter) to a higher level when gravity drainage is not possible and/or economical to install.

The compact tank is ideal for accepting waste from utility sinks, wash basins, tea points or similar. Edincare's 'OpenFlow' impeller technology enables discharge through small bore pipe work for installation through busy service voids and roof spaces.

The system consists of a sealed polyethylene chamber, internal pipe work and fittings, automatic 'OpenFlow' submersible pump and solvent weld outlet connection.

The AutoFlush90XL is easy to install as inlets can be drilled to suit site requirements (inlet information to be supplied at time of order).
